The Safeture Platform in practice

– Informed decisions and targeted communication

When a serious incident happens, confusion spreads fast. Too little information creates uncertainty. Too much noise makes it hard to know what's true. In those moments, you don't need more data, you need clarity and control.

With Safeture, professional analysts rapidly verify, assess, and deliver the critical information that matters most. Your security or duty-of-care team gets accurate, real-time intelligence to make the right decisions without delay.

Our platform instantly shows you where your people are, who may be affected, and who needs support first. You can communicate directly, coordinate actions, and guide employees to safety, all from one clear operational view.

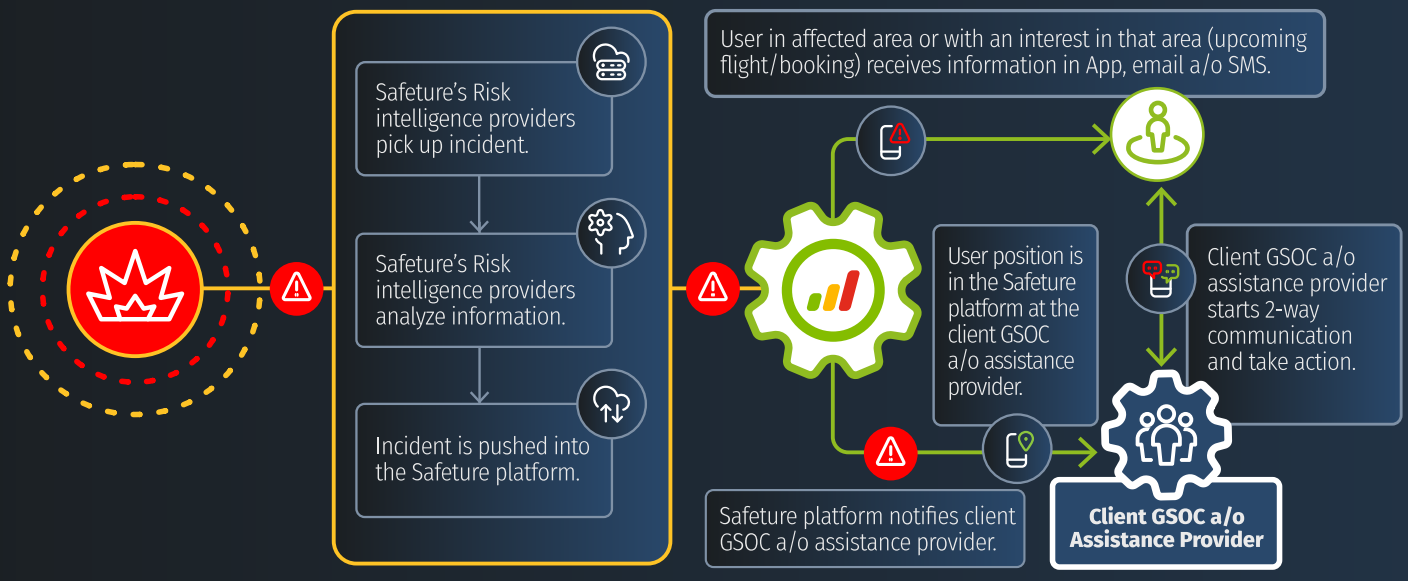
Because in an emergency, speed saves time.
The right decisions save lives.

Safeture gives you both, helping you protect your most important asset: your people.

Proactive assistance

Staying one step ahead is critical, for both your organization and employees in the field. With Safeture, risks and events are monitored in real time, and the moment something could affect your people, they're alerted immediately.

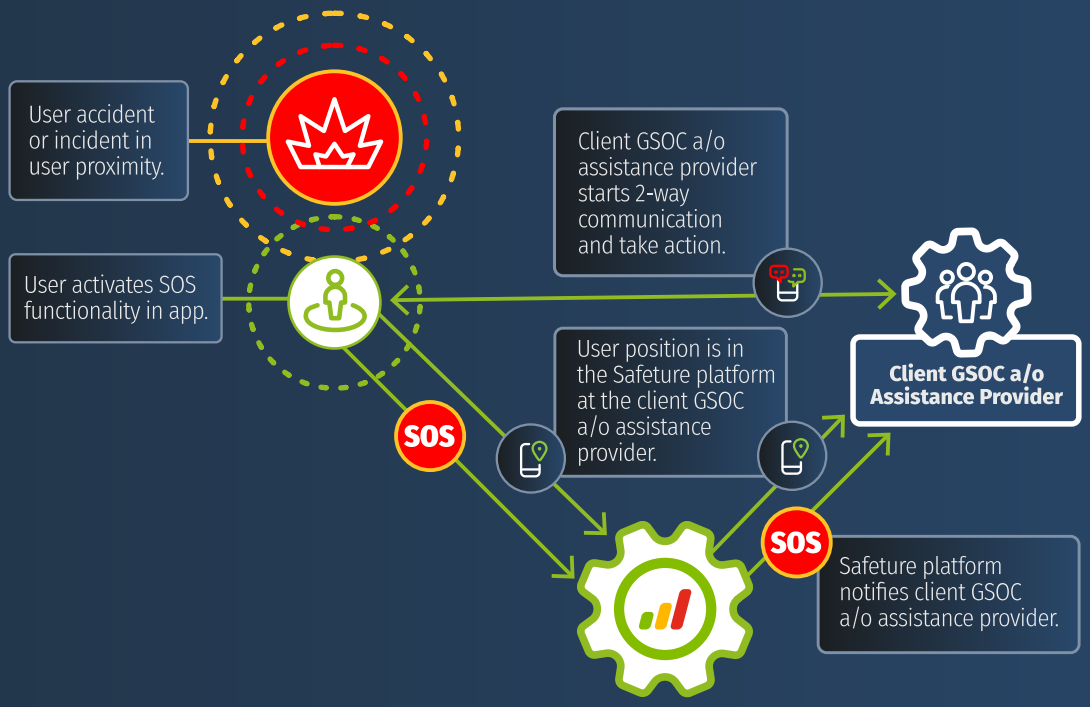
Timely, reliable information helps you act early, adapt plans, and avoid danger before it escalates. Because effective risk management isn't just about reacting fast, it's about preventing exposure altogether.



Reactive assistance

Some incidents happen without warning. In seconds, a situation can turn critical and your people may need immediate support. With Safeture, one press of the SOS button instantly shares the user's location and triggers assistance without delay.

Response teams are alerted, the situation is clear, and action starts immediately, saving valuable time when every second counts.



The highest security standards

Safeture's Information Security Management System is based on the ISO/IEC 27002:2013 and fully GDPR and CCPA compliant – trusted by large, multinational organizations such as Siemens and the European Central Bank. Protecting your data is our top priority.
